What to do in winter holidays?

It is imperative that you have a sound reason. What do we mean? First of all, you should always remember that all the cases for such a short time, as the winter holiday period (schoolchildren, are 2 weeks, students are about as well), it is impossible to bring to the end a large number of cases. And how it happens to many ... "Wow, finally there is a lot of free time, you can do this, that's it. Yes, tomorrow I'll do it with this. " And what in the end? As a result - both in the folk wisdom about the hares. Not one thing to end is not brought.

If you do not bring your beginnings to the end, then this is not good. The one who stops halfway (and even at the very beginning) will never achieve the desired heights. Of course, you can help from the side (rich relatives, external favorable circumstances, etc.), but do not hope for the will of the case. Smoke yourself over your life. Came up to work - it means that the case should be brought to the end! And without everyone here!

You can object to it, something like "But in life anything happens, sometimes you start to deal with something, but because of external circumstances you have to postpone your affairs and switch to others." Undoubtedly, it happens and always, if you live on the planet Earth. "Distractions" to other classes is a typical situation if you are a person. Never happens simple and without problems. There are always unexpected situations that are difficult to predict and foresee. However, they can be fastened.

How? Yes, very simple! You do not know that whatever you do, you will never be allowed to bring your affairs in a calm and measured setting to the end. Everyone has enough personal experience, so we don't tell us about this "phenomenon". Once you know about it and understand that this is a given, which is given over, then you can control these distractions.

How? It's all about your habit to work on tasks. If you are a person who has a certain level and flexibility, and stiffness, then you will be easier to fight with unforeseen circumstances. The thing is that when you do something, and suddenly someone starts to distract you, then you need to correctly define - is it worth responding to this "distraction" or not?

Depending on the importance of "distractions", you should either show rigidity, i.e. Do not give up your business, but to continue to do how nothing has happened, or show flexibility and move away from my job to respond to something or someone else. Duck How can I finish my business on time (well, or almost on time), if I sometimes still be distracted by outsiders?

Since our article is devoted to the topic "What to do on the Winter Vacation", then we will be repelled from this. On the winter holidays you have a unique opportunity to set up all your affairs for the full performance for a whole year. Simply put, we advise you during the holidays competently develop an action plan for the next year.

This will allow you to provide a high-quality leap to achieving your goal. And really high-quality, because all your efforts will be referred to focus, i.e. for a small number of tasks, which, ultimately, will give you a greater positive effect, rather than by you just began to deal with any system (plan).

Scatter with your free, and even more than inappropriate time - herself is more expensive. Believe me, the moment will come when you just get off from how much time wasted, and I traveled everything in one place. You will begin to compare with your friends, classmates, alignments.

You will watch what they achieved, and what did you achieve. At the same time in such comparisons there is such an amazing chip. Losers compare themselves with those who achieved modest results, winners, leaders in life - with those who surpassed them.

And, in principle, it is clear why this happens. If a person is intenseless, if he just moves through the flow of life without taking any action to achieve any heights, then such an individual will be as if justifying himself. Here is a typical phrase and expressions of such a person: "I do not have such conditions like others," "I am too stupid to achieve success," "No one respected me from childhood and did not appreciate." etc. Familiar thoughts? If such expressions are close to you - it means that this year should be aimed at overcoming these prejudices, by hard work on itself.

How to overcome your prejudice? For starters, read the appropriate books that will configure you to the desired way.

Now let's talk about the leaders - about the winners in the life fight. What do you think successful people seek to be even more successful, trying to surpass their successful fellow? This is an objective law of nature, if you want, because it is proven by many people in practice - success attracts even greater success. Read Napoleon Hill, Donald Trump. About these books are told in the above articles.

Now let us return to the main thought of this article. As we said - to spend your winter holidays on the development of an action plan for this year. The question arises: where to start? Start with your values. What is important for you?

Health, sports achievements? Then write in your plan the following: take part in 5 competitions, try to win in 3 of them. Every day make charging for 10 minutes. Once every three days take a contrast shower.

Money, glory, recognition? Think about what you are strong. Make your strengths source of income for you. You ask how you can convert your knowledge to the source of income for you? Believe me, the world of the XXI century pays only those who are truly passionate about their occupation, hobby, work.

The most common form of transformation of their knowledge is the Internet. And it is not surprising. After all, today almost the whole world is sitting in the global network. Many people have already created a real business online, and who said you are not able to repeat a similar success?

You may have a question: how can you get money working on the Internet? The answer is simple: Share your knowledge with others through your own website in the global network. You may have a problem: you do not know how to create sites and in general, with difficulty you understand how everything is arranged on the Internet.
