

Military Department - This is a separate question.

In most universities, the fourth degree accreditation necessarily has a military department, on the example of which you can consider in detail the work of all this unit. So, at the military department, a qualitative preparation of the younger officer make up without separation from the educational process.

Accepted on the military department exclusively representatives of the strong sex, and only if the entrance exams successfully passed. As the practice of recent years shows, the number of free places is limited, and the competition is growing from year to year.

It is not surprising, because the release of a young specialist or a master receives not only a diploma of higher education, but also a military ID with assigned military rank. Accordingly, the honor of the Motherland is given, and nothing bothers nothing to get a job safely.

In the absence of a military ticket and not passing the military department, the guys of the draft age on the release from the university can be sent to the term service and only on return continue their employment according to the specialty university.

So it only seems that the department is a small kingdom, in fact she is able to finish human destinies - in our case of the fate of students and future graduates.

But we still slightly moved away from the topic, and I want to talk about the relationship between the student and the Department: what prospects and "pitfalls" are there, what is important to remember and never forget?

Student and department

In his student life, the student of the university is more likely to be at the department and much less often visits the dean of its faculty. This is not surprising, after all, teachers from the department decide all student problems, it is extremely intelligible to answer the questions raised and sometimes contribute to study.

The student must understand that the issue within the framework of the department can still be solved, but if the problem has reached the dean, then before the deductions not far.

That is why it is not necessary to leave all the difficulties for tomorrow, especially since most of them are capable of solving today. So why not take advantage of this chance and not to substitute yourself in the first place?

As a rule, the Department is a separate large office, where several or all teachers of your specialty meet at once. So finding the necessary teacher does not constitute a special difficulty, it is enough just to wait for the next change and knock on the cherished door.

The head of the department meets separately, but some students who earned five years, so have never been knocked in his door. And why disturb the authorities, if there are no problems and questions?

In any case, the student should not perceive the help of the department in the bayonets, because people are not interested in its deductions.

If you ask you in a timely manner, then he will definitely extend a helping hand and will help solve, it would seem that grandiose student problems. So all students of universities can only wish: be friends with the department, and then your chance of a successful ending at the university will rapidly increase.

Conclusion: if you have any considerations about your department, I will gladly listen to them! I hope now confusion in such important student terms as the department and faculty, no longer arise.
