Systematizing the information received, I can only make one conclusion: if the student is not allowed to sessions, you can safely settle in the deanate or in the office of a strict teacher; That is, to get to the session by all forces, and it is advisable together with its fellow students.

If you follow all the requirements of a higher educational institution and act as an official way, then the following steps are required:

1. To approach the teacher of that subject, which is an obstacle to receiving tolerance, and try to negotiate peacefully with him.
2. After the unlawful conflict will be resolved, the student needs to go to the secretary for the examination statement so that his surname is inscribed there, or simply provide the resulting assessment in the deanant, which indicates that there are no more reasons for no tolerance.
3. Accordingly, if there are several such failed items, it is desirable to hurry to settle all your problems to follow the exam with the entire group and clean soul.
4. If the problem is solved, time to prepare, because it is quite obvious that you put on a note; And it is possible that the session will be hot, even if the window is minus twenty.

Personal observations from student life

Of course, every student is confident that his such problem, as not tolerance, will not affect, but should not demonstrate such self-confidence. Sometimes teachers can prove that even the knowledge of a round excellent person, in essence, nothing is worth.

That is why all students want to give several delight tips:

1. With the solution of such a global problem, it is best not to delay, and even more so no hope for "maybe".
2. During the semester, it is necessary to attend even the most unnecessary, at first glance, objects, because, as the practice of many years shows, it is not to admit that non-profiling disciplines.
3. It is important to always avoid conflicts with "teachers", because, as not to be twisted, but they will always consider themselves right. But it will be pregnant to remember the stubborn and be sure to arrange a "sweet life" at the case.

4. The teacher should not remember you as a bad student, since even the perfectly executed exam (and independently) will necessarily cause a lot of questions and suspicions about writing off. But break stereotypes and prove that you are "not a steam locomotive", it will be very difficult, especially on the exam.

5. The skipping of lectures is a direct road to not tolerance and a speedy deduction, especially since many lecturers strictly control visiting and behavior on their discipline. So it is advisable to act in circumstances.

Conclusion: So now anyone has no questions, what to do if not allowed to session. From myself I will say that this is a bad beginning, which is unlikely to end with satisfactory estimates on exams and receiving a long-awaited scholarship. So I advise everyone, on the eve of the session "tighten the tails" and show yourself to teachers in the best light.
